1. WHO MUST FILE AN ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSE PROOF OF CLAIM. You MUST file an Administrative Expense Proof of Claim if (i) you seek payment of a claim constituting a cost or expense of administration during the Chapter 11 Cases of the kind specified under section 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and entitled to administrative priority under sections 507(a)(2), 507(b), or 1114(e)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, including the actual and necessary costs and expenses incurred on or after the Petition Date and through the Effective Date of preserving the Estates and operating the businesses of the Debtors, and (ii) your claim is not one of the types described in Section 4 below, whether or not such claim is fixed, liquidated or certain.

2. WHAT TO FILE. A form for filing Administrative Expense Proofs of Claim (the "Administrative Expense Claim Form") and instructions for completing and submitting such form may be obtained at (a) the website established by the Court-approved claims and noticing agent, Prime Clerk LLC ("Prime Clerk"), located at <https://cases.primclerk.com/fieldwoodenergy/> (the "Case Website") or (b) the Bankruptcy Court's website located at www.uscourts.gov/forms/bankruptcy-forms.

Stockton’s son left team before invasion

Jeff Zillgitt
USA TODAY

The impact of Russia’s invasion of Ukraine has impacted European sports, including basketball.

Michael Stockton, the son of NBA Hall of Famer John Stockton who was playing professional basketball in Ukraine, was able to leave the country last week and return to his home in Spokane, Washington, his agent, Mike Main, told USA TODAY Sports.

Stockton, 32, played for Budivelnky Kyiv in Ukraine’s SuperLeague and averaged 10.2 points, a team-high 6.2 assists, 3.3 rebounds and 1.1 steals. This was his first season with Budivelnky, which is in second place.

Stockton’s teammate, Archie Goodwin, the No. 29 pick in the 2013 NBA draft, left Ukraine days ago and signed a deal to play in Israel, his agent, Eric Fleisher, told USA TODAY Sports.

“The team kept saying, ‘Everything is fine, everything is going to be OK,’ ” Fleisher said. “Having been through similar situations in Ukraine and Israel in the past when there was a conflict, there is a timeliness and build-up, and it was clear to me it was time to leave. The more knowledge you have, the easier it is to sift through what’s real and not real. I said to Archie, ‘It’s time to leave.’ ”

Fleisher said he believes a few American-born players remain in Ukraine. There are approximately 60 American men on Ukrainian rosters, according to basketball.realmgm.com.

Prometey, the first-place team based in Kamianske, Ukraine, relocated its men’s and women’s teams to Prague.

Taylor Jones, who played for a Ukrainian professional women’s team, left the country last week and made it to Finland. “Let’s just say I’ve been able to sleep a little better,” Jones told Detroit TV station WXYZ.

As recently as last week, Maine’s Troy Barnies, who played for MBC Mykolaiv, planned to stay. But Sunday he flew to Norway with his wife. He told TV station WMTW that friends were describing long lines at gas stations and ATMs. “So there’s a lot of panic, more now than a few days ago, and the situation was insane,” he said.

Several Americans play for Russian teams.

Impact on hoops teams, events

Last week, a FIBA World Cup qualifying game between Spain and Ukraine in Kyiv was postponed amid security concerns, and on Thursday, a FIBA World Cup qualifying game between England and Belarus was also postponed. “The decision is based on the evaluation of the current security situation in the region,” FIBA said in a statement.

Also, Spanish powerhouse FC Barcelona, the top team in the 18-team Euroleague, on Thursday canceled a trip to Russia, where it was scheduled to play games in St. Petersburg on Friday and Moscow on Sunday. Other games involving Russian teams were postponed.

The Euroleague said games will be played “unless the integrity of all participating teams is at risk and/or there are governmental decisions that prevent any games from taking place under normal circumstances.”

Estonia’s BC Kalev/Cramo, a team in the Russian-dominated VTB United League, released a statement saying, “Due to Russian aggression that led to war in Ukraine, BC Kalev/Cramo will terminate their membership with VTB United League as we do not see a possibility to continue after the moves made by Russia. Our team is against every sort of violence and war activity.”

The statement ended with #stand-withukraine.

ROUNDUP

Djokovic to be replaced at No. 1 by Medvedev after Dubai loss

The Associated Press

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates – Novak Djokovic will fall from No. 1 in the ATP rankings and be replaced by Daniil Medvedev after losing 6-4, 7-6 (7-4) to Czech qualifier Jiri Vesely in the Dubai Championships quarterfinals Thursday.

Djokovic’s latest stay atop the tennis rankings began on Feb. 3, 2020, and his total of 361 weeks there are the most for any man since the tour’s computerized rankings began in 1973.

Medvedev will move up from No. 2 for the first time and become the 27th man to reach No. 1 Monday. He won the US Open in September and was Australian Open runner-up the past two years.

Medvedev is the first man other than Djokovic, Roger Federer, Rafael Nadal or Andy Murray to be No. 1 since Feb. 1, 2004.

Djokovic congratulated Medvedev on Twitter, saying the Russian was “very deserving” of the No. 1 spot.

Novak Djokovic’s reign as men’s No. 1 will end Monday after 361 weeks.

KARIM SAHIB/AFP VIA GETTY IMAGES

somebody new at world No. 1 again,” Vesely said in his on-court interview. “Tennis needs, of course, new No. 1s. A new generation is coming up.”

It was the 34-year-old Djokovic’s first tournament since being deported from Australia last month for not being vaccinated against the coronavirus, preventing him from being able to defend his Australian Open title.

Medvedev is playing at the Mexican Open.

F1’s Vettel won’t race in Russia

Sebastian Vettel said Thursday he will not race in the Russian Grand Prix on Sept. 25 following Russia’s attack on Ukraine, and the Haas F1 team removed the logos of its Russian sponsor from its cars.

Formula 1 is in Barcelona this week for preseason testing and Vettel, the four time champion, said he woke up “shocked” by the news that President Vladimir Putin had launched a military operation against neighboring Ukraine.

“My own opinion is I should not go, I will not go,” Vettel said. “I think it’s wrong to race in the country. I’m sorry for the innocent people that are losing their lives, that are getting killed (for) stupid reasons and a very strange and mad leadership.”

F1 said Thursday it is “closely watching the very fluid developments.”

MLB labor talks continue

JUPITER, Fla. – With less than 4½ days until MLB’s deadline for a labor deal to salvage opening day and a 162-game season, the sides met for the fourth straight day Thursday.

The union made proposals in two small areas, narrowing the number of young players who could earn additional major league service for accomplishments and loosening the union’s proposed restrictions on high amateur draft picks in consecutive years. The latter would be an attempt to assist lower revenue teams. They scheduled another day of talks on Friday.

MLB told the union that it will cancel regular-season games if a contract is not agreed to by the end of Monday.
